

emiratijobs.ae Promises Jobs and More

March 30, 2010 by Alice Allan

A new website from international recruitment group First Select International is aiming to be more than just a jobs portal for residents of the United Arab Emirates.

Along with job listings, emiratijobs.ae will provide news, events and career fair information, and resources for Emirati job seekers. First Select International is also using the website to highlight its services for employers, which include an executive search, psychometric testing, and consulting.

Andrew Hudson, CEO of First Select International, said the launch of emiratijobs.ae "demonstrates the commitment of First Select to the demographic concerns of UAE and the need to ensure that every Emirati gets a job on a priority basis".

Other job websites focused on the UAE include emiratisation.org, uaedubaijobs.com, and alluaejobs.com.

ShareThis

Related posts:

1. oilcareers.com Re-brands for 2010 International niche job board oilcareers.com is being re-branded with a new logo, marking the beginning of a series of planned developments. oilcareers.com is part of leading UK job board jobsite.co.uk's group of specialist job websites. Mark Guest, oilcareers.com managing director,...
2. ziprecruiter.com Promises Savings A new online recruiting service has just come out of private beta, promising